Introduction

Legislation

The Local Government Act 1995 (the Act) commenced operating on 1 July 1996 and made significant changes to the way local government conducts its business. Its general aim is to enable local governments to provide good, open and accountable government to the community.

One of the changes is the degree of delegated authority available to be passed onto the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) or a Committee in order to perform the functions of a local government.

The Act allows the Council, as the governing body of a local government, to delegate to the CEO the exercise of any of its powers or the discharge of any of its duties under the Act, subject to some exceptions.

However, all delegations made by the Council must be by absolute majority decision under s 5.42(1) of the Act.

Associated Legislation

Where legislation provides for the direct delegation to authorise a person or a member of a class of persons by other agencies or decision makers.

For example: the Environmental Protection Act allows for the CEO of the Department of Environment Regulation to grant delegated authority direct to a local government.

The authorisation is dealt with in the relevant legislation and, where required, the Instrument of Delegation or Notice of the Appointment is advertised in the Government Gazette, if required.

Those delegations or authorisations that may occur under legislation other than the Local Government Act 1995, its regulations and the local government's local laws includes:

1. Building Act 2011
2. Bush Fires Act 1954, regulations and local laws created under that Act;
3. Caravan Parks and Camping Grounds Act 1995;
4. Cat Act 2011 and regulations;
5. Control of Vehicles (Off-Road Areas) Act 1978 and regulations;
6. Dog Act 1976 and regulations;
7. Environmental Protection Act 1986;
8. Environmental Protection (Noise) Regulations 1997;
9. Food Act 2008 and regulations;
10. Litter Act 1979 and regulations;
11. Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1960 as amended;
12. Freedom of Information Act 1992;

13. Planning and Development Act 2005 and associated regulations;
14. Public Health Act 2016, subsidiary legislation and local laws created under that Act;

NB. This is not an exhaustive list.

Register of Delegations

Section 5.44 of the Act provides for the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) to delegate any of their powers to another employee, this must be done in writing.

The Act also allows for the CEO to place conditions on any delegations that he or she has delegated (s 5.44(4)) of the Act.

A register of delegations relevant to the CEO and other employees is to be kept and reviewed at least once every financial year (s.546(1),(2) of the Act). If a person is exercising a power or a duty that they have been delegated, the Act requires that records be kept whenever the delegated authority is used (s.5.46(3)) of the Act.

The record is to contain the following information:

- How the person exercised the power or discharged the duty;
- When the person exercised the power or discharged the duty; and
- The persons or classes of persons, other than Council or Committee members or employees of the local governments, directly affected by the exercise of the power or the discharge of the duty (Reg 19 Local Government (Administration) Regulations 1996).

This Register outlines all powers or duties that require the exercise of a discretion or the making of a decision.

Delegation v Authorisation

Delegations and authorisations are the means by which decision making bodies can access the power to undertake certain statutory functions. A delegation is the conferral of the ability to exercise that power of duty. When exercising a delegation, the person does so 'on behalf of' the delegator.

A statutory authorisation, (such as to an authorised officer or authorised person) is the designation of an officer (or to a specific existing position within the organisation) who is able to exercise specific statutory powers, duties or functions. The ability to authorise can be either from Council direct, by the CEO, by a sub delegate of the CEO, depending on legislative framework.

When exercising a power under an authorisation the person exercises that power on their own behalf.

Interpretation Act 1984

Section 58 and 59 of the Interpretation Act 1984 outline that, where under the written law the performance of a function is dependent on the opinion, belief or state of mind in relation to the matter to be decided, and that power has been delegated then the person acts in their own right for the entity.

The delegator can impose conditions and can also exercise the power or duty.

Acting Through

The Local Government Act 1995 provides for the eventuality that a power or duty not formally delegated to a person can still be exercised on behalf of the entity who holds the power. A person who acts through does so on behalf of the holder of the power not in their own right.

For instance, a person may sign a letter on behalf of the CEO, which means the subject or content is to be attributed to the CEO. A person with Delegation would act on their own behalf.

Term of Delegation / Authorisation

Unless otherwise expressly provided delegations, sub-delegations or authorisations remain in effect until otherwise revoked or varied by the external authorising entity, the Local Government or the CEO, as the particular case requires.
